

NHS General Dental services

A dentist can provide advice and treatment to look after your teeth and gums and regular check-ups help to see if you have any dental problems. Your dentist can also carry out treatment such as fillings or root canal treatment, if you need it.

You can search for an NHS dentist near you on the NHS website.

Please bear in mind Dental surgeries will not always have the capacity to take on new NHS patients and you may have to check a surgery's website on a regular basis. You may alternatively have to join a waiting list, look for a different dentist who is taking on new NHS patients, or be seen privately.

Some dentists provide a mixture of NHS and private care. If you are unsure what services your dentist provides, please ask the practice. All dentists have up-to-date information on the NHS services they have agreed to provide.

Once you find a dental surgery, you may have to fill in a registration form on your first visit, which is just to add you to their patient database. This does not mean you have guaranteed access to an NHS dental appointment in the future.

Need urgent dental advice?

First, try your usual NHS Dental practice, they should all offer some urgent care slots for any patient that contacts them.

Alternatively visit the NHS 111 service online or call 111 which can put you in touch with an urgent dental service.

Also see separate Urgent dental care section below.

If you have a general query – these should be directed to the NHS England Customer Contact Centre: england.contactus@nhs.net
